Let's Eat Out!

Outside that is..... Just when we were hoping that the worst was behind us the Corona Virus came back with a Third Wave. It is more than demoralizing, especially for our food oriented businesses, from coffee shops to fine dining, which are holding on day by day waiting for the all clear. In Kerrisdale we have been very fortunate in seeing the nimble response of eateries reverting back to their 2020 take out plans and in some cases, temporary patios. As most new outdoor spaces are on City of Vancouver (COV) land, be it a side walk, parking spot or road, a permit is required and set of regulations need to be met in order to get permission. The good news is that the COV and their Temporary Expedited Patio Permits are free and if you had one last year all you need to do is extend it. Check it out at: vancouver.ca/doing-business/expedited-patio-program.aspx

The COV suddenly erected these hefty barriers at the northwest corner of West 41st and West Boulevard. We learned that it was to temporarily direct traffic flow away from a pending street side patio up the block being vulnerable due to vehicles streaming around that corner. It will be removed in the fall.

Getting Charged Up

The City of Vancouver/BC Hydro recently added some Electric Vehicle super power chargers along the Arbutus Greenway at 5575 West Boulevard. This is in keeping with their Greenest City initiative and a boon for anyone wishing to charge up while shopping or working in Kerrisdale Village. These are DC 50KW chargers meaning you can power up in about 15-20 minutes. As of May there will be a fee of 21 cents per minute plus whatever it costs to park in the City owned lot. On another note, the COV is planning to add a modest substation near the Point Grey Secondary School along the Arbutus Greenway to reduce diesel generators that are used for frequent filming in this area. This would also allow access to power for a possible MOBI Bike station or future KBA events.

Litter – We Are in it Together

There is an iconic story about going for a walk with Walt Disney. The reporter who was accompanying him just after Disneyland opened, observed Walt picking up random litter as he loped along. After a while the reporter also started bending over to snag the odd paper napkin or whatever. The moral of the story is that the very act of not ignoring litter makes everyone feel responsible for it, so much so that they try their best to keep their neighbourhood sidewalks clean. Please sweep in front of your stores daily and deposit trash in the litter cans, not the street. Kerrisdale is fortunate in receiving 'Micro Cleaning twice a month but let's make this volunteer organization's job all the easier by doing our collective part.

Actually we want YOUR email so we can effectively communicate with businesses at a flick of the wrist. More and more we have information you'll need especially during this time of seemingly 'ambush' announcements that affect so many businesses. A Manager/Owner email is best as this allows after hours communication. Please send to us at info@kerrisdalevillage.com. Also, if you have a new business please send us your contact information so we can add you to our website.

Provident Security

Businesses rate security in Kerrisdale Village as their number one priority. Throughout the pandemic, Provident Security has been on extra alert to ensure shuttered businesses are protected while also adding random, additional day patrol hours. Contact them if you have any concerns or need additional security. Tel: 604-664-1087

Kerrisdale Parkade

Just to reiterate, the City of Vancouver owns the Kerrisdale Parkade which we were extremely fortunate in operating for over three decades-it was free. The COV resumed operation of the Parkade in early 2020 with a plan to slowly introduce Pay Parking over the next year. Please inform customers and clients that they must register and buy tickets for parking now which is at a lesser rate than street side parking.

Visit KerrisdaleVillage.com for important updates that might assist our businesses especially during the pandemic.

Upcoming Events

To be truthful, we will list our usual events but with TBD (to be decided next to them) as we are reluctant to plan very far ahead this year given the pandemic and warnings to not assemble in large groups. The back page of this newsletter reflects are tentative plans, fingers crossed!
